OSHA standards make it the employer's responsibility to limit certain job assignments to employees who are "certified," "competent," or "qualified" meaning that they have had special previous training, in or out of the workplace.

Many standards promulgated by OSHA explicitly require the employer to train employees in the safety and health aspects of their jobs. These requirements reflect OSHA's belief that training is an essential part of every employer's safety and health program for protecting workers from injuries and illnesses.

Course Length Approximately 2.0 Hours
